Sean Thompson

Managing Director, CAMRADATA

Sean is responsible for the development of CAMRADATA's insurance reporting services. With over 25 years' experience in London's financial services, including investment consulting asset management and insurance, he brings wide industry knowledge to this role. Beginning his career at a Lloyd's managing agency, where he oversaw its syndicate investments, he went on to become Managing Director and Head of Sales and Marketing at Meridian Performance Services. Other previous positions include client relationship manager at AllianceBernstein and Director at City Capital Counselling UK.

Marcus Johnson

Deputy Chairman, Kirly Group Holdings

Marcus Johnson is the Senior Director of Kirly Limited in terms of years of service and his connections with the company go back to its foundation. At that time he was writing research on the gilt-edged market and one of his Edinburgh clients was a founding director of the company. Today he is actively engaged in all elements of the company's activities.

Marcus also has educational interests both in Lloyd's, where on behalf of CAMRADATA he lectures, and through the Chartered Institute for Securities and Investments, where his latest position is as Chairman of the Exam Board which sets professional exams at the Masters level for pensions transfers. He has written widely on corporate governance and on investment management. Kirly Limited continues to provide his services as a Non-Executive Director to several companies and he additionally has interests in forestry, particularly in the Baltic Republics (Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania). He is Deputy Chairman of Kirly Group Holdings where he takes responsibility for Compliance, discipline and Shareholder relationships.
